GOSPEL

Reading of the holy gospel according to Saint Mark (2:1-12):

When Jesus returned to Capernaum after some days, it became known that he was at home. Many gathered together so that there was no longer room for them, not even around the door, and he preached the word to them. They came bringing to him a paralytic carried by four men. Unable to get near Jesus because of the crowd, they opened up the roof above him. After they had broken through, they let down the mat on which the paralytic was lying. When Jesus saw their faith, he said to him, "Child, your sins are forgiven." Now some of the scribes were sitting there asking themselves, "Why does this man speak that way? He is blaspheming. Who but God alone can forgive sins?" Jesus immediately knew in his mind what they were thinking to themselves, so he said, "Why are you thinking such things in your hearts? Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise, pick up your mat and walk'? But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth" -he said to the paralytic, "I say to you, rise, pick up your mat, and go home." He rose, picked up his mat at once, and went away in the sight of everyone. They were all astounded and glorified God, saying, "We have never seen anything like this."

LORD'S WORD

CHRIST THE KING CATHOLIC CHURCH

THIRD WEEK OF ORDINARY TIME

JANUARY 21, 2024

Today, we see the Lord surrounded once more by crowds. His heart is melted by people's needs and provides them as much relief as possible; by forgiving, teaching and healing them at the same time. He certainly offers them physical help (as in today's parable, by curing the paralytic), but –actually– He is looking for the very best for each one of us: the well-being of our soul.

Jesus, our Savior, wants to give us a true hope of salvation. He even forgives our sins and sympathizes with our moral feebleness. Before anything else. After forgiving the paralytic's sins He cures his paralysis, as a kind of external guarantee to open our eyes of faith.

We can revive this miracle quite often through Confession. With the words of forgiveness said by the minister of God ("I absolve you from your sins in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit") Jesus discreetly offers us the external guarantee of remission of our sins once more, a guarantee that is tantamount to the spectacular cure of the paralytic of Capernaum.

We are now beginning a new ordinary time. And, we believers are now reminded of the urgent need we have of a sincere and personal encounter with Jesus Christ, the All-Merciful Lord. In this liturgical time, He urges us neither to slacken our pace nor to neglect the necessary forgiveness He offers all of us in His dwelling, the Church.

God and Man both possess the ability to forgive sins. In this, Jesus relieves and forgives a disabled man of his sins. This shows that God is willing to accept anybody who is willing to redeem themselves for the greater good, for themselves, and for the people around them. The question is, are we deserving of forgiveness? Do we try our best to show ourselves that we want to be better? Much like the men who dug through the roof just to show the disabled man to Jesus, are we trying hard enough for forgiveness? Hopefully so, because even with one person motivated to try their hardest, this world is bound to be a better place.
