GOSPEL

Reading of the Holy Gospel according to Saint Mark (12, 28-34)

One of the scribes came to Jesus and asked him, "Which is the first of all the commandments?" Jesus replied, "The first is this: Hear, O Israel! The Lord our God is Lord alone! You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength. The second is this: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these."

The scribe said to him, "Well said, teacher. You are right in saying, 'He is One and there is no other than he.' And 'to love him with all your heart, with all your understanding, with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself' is worth more than all burnt offerings and sacrifices."

And when Jesus saw that he answered with understanding, he said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." And no one dared to ask him any more questions.

REFLECTION

In our Gospel reading, one of the scholars of the law dared to test Jesus; he asked him what he thinks is the greatest commandment of all.

Jesus gave him a clear answer: the greatest among many things that man could do is to love. To love God wholly and totally (with one's heart, soul, and mind) and to love one's neighbor are the greatest commandments of all. These two are inseparable. One cannot say "I love God" but hates his/ her neighbor or has nothing to do with his/ her neighbor. Because God is love and that is why we are able to love. What pleases the Lord and what makes one worthy of the Lord's saving grace. From God's love, mercy and compassion follow.

But loving God and loving one's neighbor are vague concepts unless concretized, let us then make our love real so we may share real love with those who need it. To love is to serve. To serve lovingly our brothers and sisters, especially those who are in need in our midst. By serving others one expresses his/ her authentic love to God. There are a lot of ways of showing our love for God and others, we don't need to go out and look outside us.

Without love, there is no reason for us to live. Without love there is no purpose for us to go on. Our love of God and love of neighbor are the greatest of all, no other.
